62% of Uganda's population – particularly women and low-income communities – lack access to formal financial services due to the limited reach of traditional banks. Meanwhile, widespread mobile phone penetration facilitates low-cost financial service delivery.

Through the ChapChap app, micro, small, and medium seized enterprises (MSMEs) can provide a wide range of financial services to their customers, including mobile money deposits and withdrawals; Bill and subscription payments; Small business loan applications; Affordable credit, and more.

78,000 MSMEs onboarded (43% women-owned and 89% youth-owned)
